ESTILO INDIRECTO

Reported statements · contar lo que alguien dijo

Nivel B2

Usamos el ESTILO INDIRECTO para contar lo que otra persona dijo, sin comillas y con cambios.

1 ¿Qué cambia?

- El tiempo verbal: un paso atrás
- Los pronombres: I → he / she
- Tiempo y lugar: now → then

2 Un paso atrás

is / are	→ was / were
work(s)	→ worked
worked / have worked	→ had worked
will / can	→ would / could

3 SAY vs TELL

- say (that)… · say sth to sb
- tell + persona + (that)…
- She told me she was tired.

4 Tiempo y lugar

now	→ then
today	→ that day
tomorrow	→ the next day
yesterday	→ the day before
here	→ there

5 Pronombres

- "I love my job," Ana said.
- → Ana said she loved her job.
- that es opcional.

7 Error común

✗ She said me that she was tired.

✓ She told me that she was tired.

tell + persona · say sin persona

6 ¿Siempre cambia?

- Si sigue siendo verdad, no hace falta: He said he lives in Rome.
- Con says (presente), no cambia: She says she's tired.

Mini ejercicio

Pasa a estilo indirecto (un paso atrás).
Report what they said.

1. "I'm tired." → She said she _____ tired.
2. "I'll call you." → He said he _____ call me.
3. "We can't come." → They said they _____ come.
4. She _____ me she was leaving. (say / tell)
5. "I saw it." → He said he _____ it.

Explicación · Explanation

Lee cada recuadro despacio. Primero en español, luego en inglés. Read each box slowly: first in Spanish, then in English.

¿Qué es? · What is it?

El estilo indirecto (reported speech) sirve para contar lo que otra persona dijo sin repetir sus palabras exactas ni usar comillas. Como lo contamos después, desde otro momento y a veces desde otro lugar, casi siempre hay que ajustar tres cosas: el tiempo verbal, los pronombres y las expresiones de tiempo y lugar. En español pasa lo mismo: «Estoy cansada» → Dijo que estaba cansada. (Las preguntas y las órdenes indirectas tienen su propio mapa.)

Reported speech tells what someone said without quoting their exact words. We usually change the tense, the pronouns and the time and place words.

Sujeto + said + (that) + oración

Sujeto + told + persona + (that) + oración

Truco: la máquina del tiempo · Tip: the time machine

Imagina que said es una máquina del tiempo que empuja todo un paso hacia el pasado: is → was, will → would, did → had done. Y para say / tell: Tell lleva Tu persona (tell me, tell him); say va solo.

said pushes everything one step into the past. Tell takes a person; say stands alone.

1 · SAY y TELL · Say and tell

Los dos verbos significan decir, pero se construyen distinto. Tell necesita a quién se lo dices justo detrás y sin to: tell me, tell her, tell the class. Say no lleva persona; si la quieres añadir, usa to: say something to someone. La palabra that es opcional y en la conversación se suele omitir.

tell + person (no to): She told me… say + no person, or say to + person. That is optional.

tell + persona + (that) + …

She said (that) she was tired.
→ Dijo que estaba cansada.

She told me (that) she was tired.
→ Me dijo que estaba cansada.

He said nothing to his parents about the accident.
→ No les dijo nada a sus padres sobre el accidente.

Reported statements · contar lo que alguien dijo

📖 Explicación · Explanation | Nivel B2

2 · Un paso atrás · One step back (backshift)

Cuando el verbo que introduce (said, told) está en pasado, el verbo de lo que se dijo retrocede un tiempo: el presente pasa a pasado; el pasado y el present perfect pasan a past perfect; will pasa a would. Es lógico: lo que era «ahora» para quien habló ya es «antes» para quien lo cuenta. Es la misma concordancia de tiempos del español (dijo que trabajaba).

After a past reporting verb, the tense usually moves one step back: present → past, past / present perfect → past perfect, will → would.

"I work in a bank." → He said he worked in a bank.
→ «Trabajo en un banco». → Dijo que trabajaba en un banco.

"We're moving to Leeds." → They said they were moving to Leeds.
→ «Nos mudamos a Leeds». → Dijeron que se mudaban a Leeds.

"I lost my keys." → She said she had lost her keys.
→ «Perdí las llaves». → Dijo que había perdido las llaves.

3 · Los modales · Modal verbs

will → would, can → could, may → might. Must de obligación suele pasar a had to (también puede quedarse como must). Would, could, should, might y ought to se quedan igual.

will → would, can → could, may → might, must → had to (or must). would, could, should, might and ought to don't change.

"I'll send it tomorrow." → She said she would send it the next day.
→ «Lo enviaré mañana». → Dijo que lo enviaría al día siguiente.

"You must wear a helmet." → The instructor said we had to wear a helmet.
→ «Tenéis que llevar casco». → El monitor dijo que teníamos que llevar casco.

"You should see a doctor." → My mum said I should see a doctor.
→ «Deberías ir al médico». → Mi madre dijo que debería ir al médico.

La tabla del paso atrás · Tense changes

past simple	past perfect	"We met in 2019."	They said they had met in 2019.
present perfect	past perfect	"I've seen it."	He said he had seen it.
past continuous	past perfect continuous	"I was sleeping."	She said she had been sleeping.
past perfect	past perfect (no cambia)	"I had left."	He said he had left.
will	would	"I'll help."	She said she would help.

am / is / are going to	was / were going to	"I'm going to quit."	He said he was going to quit.
can	could	"I can drive."	She said she could drive.
may	might	"It may rain."	He said it might rain.
must (obligación)	had to / must	"I must go."	She said she had to go.

would, could, should, might, ought to y el past perfect no cambian: ya no pueden ir más atrás. El cambio past simple → past perfect es opcional si el orden de los hechos está claro: He said he met her in 2019 también es correcto.

would, could, should, might, ought to and the past perfect never change.

4 · Pronombres y posesivos · Pronouns and possessives

Los pronombres cambian según quién lo cuenta y a quién, exactamente como en español: si Ana dice «Me encanta mi trabajo», tú cuentas «Dijo que le encantaba su trabajo». Revisa siempre I, me, my, we, our, you, your: suelen pasar a he / she, him / her, his / her, they, their… o a I, me, my si te lo dijeron a ti.

Pronouns and possessives change according to who is reporting: I → he / she, my → his / her, you → I / me.

"I love my job." → Ana said she loved her job.
→ «Me encanta mi trabajo». → Ana dijo que le encantaba su trabajo.

"We've sold our flat." → They told me they had sold their flat.
→ «Hemos vendido nuestro piso». → Me dijeron que habían vendido su piso.

"You can borrow my car." → Tom told me I could borrow his car.
→ «Puedes coger mi coche». → Tom me dijo que podía coger su coche.

- el verbo ya es past perfect o un modal como would, could, should, might.

He said that the first months had been really hard: he was working fourteen hours a day and he hadn't had a day off since March. However, he said he loved every minute of it.

As for the future, he said he was going to open a second restaurant in London the following year. He also said he would never forget his grandmother's advice: "Cook with love, and people will come back."
